The 'Gita' is a universal love song sung by God to His friend man. It can't be confined by any creed. It is a statement of the truths at the core of what we all already believe, only it makes those truths clearer, so they become immediately useful in our daily lives. These truths are for our hearts, not just for our heads.

Even though I've read different versions of The Bhagavad Gita dozens of times over the last fifty years, it still feels good and necessary to reflect again on the teachings. At first, when I read this as a college student, I agreed with Arjuna at the beginning of the story (when he was shaking and confused!) that war is wrong; of course we shouldn't attack and kill anybody, much less old ...
